Reference: David Stokes

I have been asked to forward a reference for David Stokes with regard to the Art Cart project for Leamington Spa Art Gallery and Museum.

David is a long-standing teacher and critic in the School of Architecture working with all levels of undergraduate students in hands-on design and build projects as well as conventional architectural designs. His skills as a product designer and furniture/installation design/builder are very valuable.

In 2004, David was commissioned by the University to design and make a mobile lectern / laptop desk for use in our main review and lecture space. His design was unusual, exciting, and stimulating and is a welcome addition to the school's equipment. It was delivered on time and to a very reasonable budget. It is a very high specification object that has withstood the rigours of school life well without fault.

I would certainly commission David for a similar project again if the opportunity arose.

Please contact me if you require further information.

Yours sincerely,

Professor Robert Kronenburg
Chair of Architecture and Head of School
The Liverpool School of Architecture
University of Liverpool
